Contact person

Lara Wilhelms has been a Senior Consultant at permitto since 2008. As a trainer and coach, she supports companies and public institutions in areas such as management and team development, personnel selection and the implementation of corporate culture in leadership and cooperation.

For 18 years, her tasks have included feedback analyses, the design and implementation of assessment and development centers, company-specific management development programs based on these, as well as international management workshops.

Her expertise is based on her work as a psychological consultant to the selection committee of the German Foreign Office, as an executive trainer at Daimler, Bosch and Freudenberg and as a developer of the New Leadership Program at BASF.

Her Diplôme de la Langue et Civilisation Française at the Sorbonne and her studies at the Institut des Hautes Études Internationales in Geneva were followed by a degree in industrial and organizational psychology at the University of Mannheim, as well as certifications in personality, team and organizational diagnostics.
